

brioni lucidi pevere

Brioni is a collection of poufs, lounge armchairs and daybeds named after a famous archipelago in the Adriatic Sea. They resemble small islands rising out of the sea. Their design features a dark band on the lower part that prevents direct contact between the ground and the upholstery. The upholstery is made of Sunbrella fabric: stain-resistant, breathable, resistant to UV rays and water-repellent. They are soft and comfortable thanks to flexible polyester padding and plastic slats, enclosed in water-resistant housing. Light and easy to move, they can be used to create countless compositions outdoors, experimenting with different shapes, colors and sizes.
